An Act Of War

(International News Service)
Poland's fourth partition was virtually an accomplished fact today, as the stunned western powers, the Balkan countries neighboring on Russia, Japan, and even the United States government wondered how far the Soviets' immensely numerous red army would go.

Defying a German ultimatum, the Poles held out in Warsaw and claimed victories, with the capture of 12,000 Germans, southwest of Lwow.

Government Flees

But the government of Poland, headed by President Moscicki, fled into Rumania; another vast Polish area was circumscribed by the German advance.

Hot, dry weather, has been hard on apple orchards, according to Sheriff M. M. Ingham, who is the owner of a large orchard. One effect has been to retard the apples in the filling out and reddening process; another has been to wither the stems so that the apples drop from the trees. The ground is literally covered under some trees. However, in spite of unfavorable weather conditions, there will be a fairly good crop this year.

Joseph J. Buczek, Burgess of South New Castle boro., believes that he has one of the oldest automobile license plates in this section. The plate is 29 years old, and is made of porcelain, and was manufactured by the Richardson Company of Beaver Falls. He found the plate on the John Nastal farm in Shenango township, and although it had evidently lain out in the weather for many years, it was in a good state of preservation. He has the plate attached to the bumper of his car, where it attracts considerable attention.

Harry T. Amberson, an artist of No. 3 Culbertson place, has just completed a beautiful painting that is attracting considerable attention. The picture depicts a tavern scene in which the characters are unique and lifelike. The painting is on a canvas 32x48 inches, and is enclosed in a massive frame, nearly a foot wide. Mr. Amberson has painted many pictures, and this one is among his masterpieces.

It is reported that Shirley Jean English, aged four, of Slippery Rock, has nine living grand-parents. Four of the nearest are grand-parents, and five are great-grand-parents. If these grand-parents are like a lot that we have seen, we fear that the little lady is in danger of being "spoiled." But then, what's the use of being grand-parents if one can't dote over grand-children.

War developments today:

LONDON.—Sinking of the 26,500-ton British aircraft carrier Courageous by a German submarine which in turn was sent to the bottom by British warships was revealed by the ministry of information. Some survivors were picked up from the Courageous. British observers meanwhile saw in the Russo-German deal for Poland a desperate German bid for a quick peace.

BERLIN.—Official German communique announced Reich's campaign in Poland is "nearing its end." It stated German air force and artillery units are being concentrated for "action elsewhere"—presumably on the western front.

A formal German statement asserted Russia send her army into Poland solely to "restore peace and order." Military authorities announced further swift progress on the Polish front, where, it was said, "battered remnants of the Polish army are in a state of dissolution."

PARIS.—Only minor operations were reported on the Rhine frontier. French communique No. 29 said: "A calm night was experienced along the entire front. There was continued local activity, with contact of troops."

CERNAUTI (Rumania).—Polish Ukrainians were reported in rebellion against the advancing Russians. Rumania feared that a Soviet attack on the territory of Bessarabia would be the next Russian move.

Courageous One Of Older Type Vessels

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Sinking of the British aircraft carrier Courageous was regarded in naval and military circles today as the most spectacular submarine achievement to date.

The Courageous, although not a new vessel, was a first line ship, displacing 26,500 tons fully loaded, with a speed of more than 30 knots and carrying 48 planes, divided among scouts, fighters and bombers.

Loss of the Courageous leaves Britain with 11 aircraft carriers built or building. Six are of a new and extremely powerful category and the five others older vessels of the Courageous type.

Prior to sinking of the Courageous the most important submarine achievement in naval warfare was the torpedoing of the British cruisers Hogue, Aboukir and Cressy by Commander von Weddigen aboard the U-9.

U. S. Government To Delay Action

(International News Service)
OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 18.—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King today summoned his cabinet to meet in special session this afternoon to study latest developments in the European war. It was believed Russia's invasion of Poland would constitute the chief topic of the meeting.

The steady march of the Red war machine into Poland raised a potential menace to Northern Canada along the Pacific coast. Should England decide to declare war on Russia along with Germany, Canada would find itself faced by a war enemy across the Pacific, it was pointed out in parliamentary circles.

Bewilderment In Southern Poland

Rumania Also Gripped By Fear

Report Polish Ukrainians Rising Against Invading Soviet Troops

REPORT RUSSIANS 60 MILES IN POLAND

By JAMES E. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
CERNAUTI, Rumania — (by telephone via Amsterdam) Sept. 18.—Fear and bewilderment darted through southern Poland and Rumania today as Polish Ukrainians were reported already rising in rebellion against the invading Soviet armies.

The insurgent Ukrainians, according to Rumanian accounts, have appealed to Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany for help against the Soviets.

This anomaly was only one aspect of the confusion prevailing in southern Poland and Rumania following the staggering invasion of Poland by the red army to a depth of 60 miles.

Poland, it was learned here, is putting up almost no resistance against the Soviets. Instead, troops are fleeing across the Rumanian frontier. Two hundred Polish airplanes landed near Cernauti, which is just below the Polish frontier and surrendered to Rumania. Two Polish bombers crashed and their pilots were killed.

Rumania now fears attack from two sides: A swift Russian seizure of Bessarabia, the territory which Rumania took after the World war, and a Hungarian "revisionist" invasion of Rumania as soon as the Soviet strike.

President Ignace Moscicki and Foreign Minister Joseph Beck of Poland arrived in Cernauti yesterday. They plan to fly to Paris, it is understood, to establish a Polish government there.

PROLONGER WAR SEEN RESULT OF WEEK-END

sel actually was bound to increase the fighting spirit of England, where the navy is the most treasured of all institutions.

Consequences Seen
Russia's invasion of Poland, on the other hand, it is believed here, may incur the following consequences or the accompanying events:

First: Hitler will withdraw larger forces from Poland sooner than had been expected before Russia marched. He has already begun to do so, which indicates that he is not fearful of the Red army, but has a genuine military agreement with Stalin.

Second, the smaller part of these forces Hitler will send to the western front to reinforce his line against the French attack, while he will dispatch a larger force to Rumania at the same time that Russia attacks Rumania and Bessarabia.

Rumania, if attacked by Germany and Russia at the same time, will be in a militarily hopeless position, and won't have even as much chance as Poland had to defend herself.

The great object now for Hitler, however, is the Rumanian oil fields, and it is now believed he has arranged with Stalin to divide Rumania. Since Hitler, however, will have seized the lion's share of both Poland and Rumania, Stalin, it is believed, will take compensation by occupying Estonia and Latvia and maybe also Finland.

The effect of all these events upon Turkey at any rate is not calculated to promote her enthusiasm over entering actively on the allied side.

British Waiting
In the face of this welter of confusing events the British government has adopted a waiting policy before announcing its reaction to the Russian move in Poland.

Whereas it was pointed out last week that according to the terms of the British and French guarantee to Poland, they would automatically be at war with any country which invaded her, it is now further pointed out that they are only obligated to go to war when Poland asks for their aid.

This apparently the Poles have not yet done.

Meanwhile, it is still believed probable that Hitler will try a peace offensive within a week or a fortnight, using Premier Mussolini to appeal to President Roosevelt to summon a peace conference, and it is the profound hope in London that the President will be able to expose this maneuver as intended merely to confirm the aggressors' possession of the dead body of Poland.

Sinking of the Courageous helped to consolidate the resolution of Britain to allow no maneuver to divert from the great task of destroying Hitler.

FRENCH TROOPS CONTINUE WESTERN FRONT ACTIVITIES

on the Western front was reported from the 15-mile area between Saarbrücken and Saarouis, where the French slowly made gains over the hilly and wooded terrain the ceaseless hammering of German big guns.

So far French strategy has been so successful, according to observers in Paris, that the German artillery barrage has failed in its purpose, while German counter-offensives, such as the Reich troops attempt to smash a way down the Nied valley, have been repelled.

Artillery Duel
In the thick of the artillery duel, French troops fought their way in position atop a high plateau dominating the entire valley of the Saar river, from Saarouis to Saarbrücken.

The position was speedily consolidated, and the French were able to pound not only the German lines, but also the outskirts of the two cities.

Germany's action in bringing up more reinforcements was welcomed by the French. It proved that French successes on the western front were having the desired effect of relieving pressure on what remains of the Polish army, it was felt.

With its mines idle and its furnaces cold, the Saarland has been virtually evacuated, according to French information. The German high command has issued radio orders for acceleration of the evacuation of other areas, especially Aix-la-Capelle (Aachen).

What part the British are playing in the war zone remains secret, but authorities denied reports that British infantrymen are helping to garrison the Maginot line. However, British aviation is helping the French air force to gain control of the skies.

Premier Edouard Daladier paid a visit to the front yesterday and looked over the miles gained from Germany in the no-man's-land between the two major lines of fortification.

tional convention, and its transmission to the states for ratification. This was in 1787. The constitution has probably been studied more in recent years than for several generations, due to attempts made to influence the courts, and to stretch its meanings to suit the whims of part of the political party in power.

These assaults are still fresh in our memories, and also the valiant work of some true statesmen of both political parties to preserve it intact. Today we cherish our liberties under the constitution more dearly than ever before because we see how they have been lost in war torn Europe.

New Castle today presents the anomaly of high costs for building and low prices for houses already built. This condition has retarded building for speculative purposes. Most of the houses that have been built this summer have been erected by persons who like to plan their own homes. Again, a new house is worth more than an old one, since there is very little depreciation for a number of years. It is doubtful if prices for older houses, in comparison with those of new construction, were ever lower than at present. It is a fine time to buy, but a poor time to sell.

Pa New is pleased to hear that more men are being taken back by the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroads. The pleasing thing about it is that it is announced that the need for more men is not caused by war hysteria, but on account of a jump in domestic activity. Reports from industry and business all over the country indicate that better times are in prospect this fall, as compared with last. Along with most folks, we can stand them.

Pa New heard a north hill woman say the other day that she spends about one third of her time answering the door bell, rung by agents, solicitors and hucksters. If there is anything that gets her dander up, she says, it is to have a huckster come to her front door. "I never buy anything from a huckster at the front door," she declares, "no matter how badly I may need it. There is propriety in all things, even in selling beads and cabbage."

Farmers tell us that it has been many years since their corn crop has been affected as at present, by the hot, dry weather. There are hundreds of acres in Lawrence county that have not been cut, because it has been so dry. The leaves have turned brown, and have the appearance of having been frosted. Whether this will impair their nutritive qualities, Pa New is not enough of a farmer to know.

People might look at Sunday's temperature report and wonder when the thermometer got up to 95 degrees, because it was rather cool all day long, a decided contrast to Saturday's blistering heat. This mark was set at 5 p. m. on Saturday, when the thermometers were set for the next 24-hour reading. Sunday's highest temperature during the day was 64 degrees and it got down fairly close to the frost point early this morning, the low being 37 degrees. This was a drop of sixty degrees in about 36 hours.

"The Polish campaign is nearing its end after complete encirclement of Lemberg and the fall of Lublin. The German army has reached the line of Lemberg-Vlodzimierz, Brestlitovsk and Bialystok, and has occupied the largest part of Poland."

"In the meantime, annihilation or capture of stray remnants of the Polish army is continuing."

"The strongest encircled group, amounting to one-fourth of the entire Polish army, is now jammed in a narrow area southwest of Vyzrog, Bzura and the Vistula River. This force has been gradually dissolving since yesterday."

"The air force successfully attacked and encircled Polish forces in the Vyzrog sector, while the Polish air force is no longer making an appearance."

"The German air force thus essentially has fulfilled its task in the east. Numerous units of the air force and anti-aircraft artillery are being concentrated for action elsewhere."

"On the western front there was no worth while activity. A German chaser shot down a French plane near Saarbrücken. The enemy made no air attacks upon Reich territory yesterday."

That there might be any clash between the Germans and Russians was ridiculed in Germany where, it was stated, the Russians are proceeding to certain fixed points in accordance with previous agreements with the Reich.

Establishment of a new Polish government is awaited before a Polish buffer state will be developed, it was explained.

DNB, the official German news bureau, said in a Bucharest dispatch that Rumania decided that the Polish-Rumanian mutual assistance pact was void because the Polish government "no longer exists."

Therefore, said the telegram, Russia's march into Poland does not affect Rumanian neutrality.

The first Russian war communiqué, as made known in Berlin, said: "Following the crushing of weak Polish resistance, Russian troops crossed the Niemen River, and took the western Ukrainian cities of Tarnopol and Dubno."

PUT OFF HARD JOB UNTIL AFTERNOON SAYS PHYSIOLOGIST

(International News Service)
CHICAGO.—If you have a difficult job to perform, choose some time in the afternoon to do it—that's when the human mind and body are at the peak of their efficiency.

That's just one of the tips given by D. Nathaniel Kleitman, associate professor of physiology at the University of Chicago, after 17 years of study of sleep mechanisms.

Dr. Kleitman finds that one mark of man's superiority over the lower animals is his ability to wake up and stay awake by choice. Plants, he points out, never wake up because they are being nourished 24 hours a day, most animals wake up only when they get hungry, but man alone is able to wake up by choice.

Through evolution, Dr. Kleitman says, man has been able to prolong his hours of wakefulness each day.

U. S. Embassy To Poland Will Move To Paris

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The American embassy to Poland is being moved to French soil, Secretary of State Cordell Hull announced today.

Hull said he had instructed the U. S. ambassador to Poland, Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., to proceed with his staff to Paris. Biddle crossed into Rumania several days ago with other foreign diplomats after the flight of the Polish foreign office ahead of the advancing German armies.

Before fleeing into Rumania, Biddle had been in the midst of two aerial bombardments by German fighting planes. The first was at Warsaw, where his residence and an adjoining villa were bombed, and the second was at a Polish village to which the diplomatic corps fled with the Polish foreign office. The latter bombardment, Biddle reported, to the department, was made on an "open defenseless town."

One bomb, he said, exploded within 300 yards of the residence in which Biddle had set up his temporary embassy.

Hull disclosed that a number of American consular agents have been cut off in Poland and have not been heard from. All communications between the American government and Poland have been severed, Hull said.

One of the American consular officers was last heard from in Warsaw.

PLAN FOR FUNERAL SERVICE FOR GOV. JAMES' SON

James Hilton, head of the Young Republicans of Pennsylvania; Mrs. Martha Edwards and Mrs. Edward Zimmerman, of Wilkes-Barre, sisters of Governor James; Judge E. Foster Heller, Luzerne county; Ralph Morris, Wilkes-Barre, the governor's brother-in-law; and Secretaries J. Paul Pedigo and Roy Greene.

The governor's secretariat announced tentative arrangements have been completed for a viewing of the body by friends of the family and state officials in one of the main rooms of the executive mansion.

Funeral Plans
It was expected the funeral service will be held tonight in the executive mansion. Further services will be conducted at two p. m. Wednesday at Plymouth, the governor's home town, to be followed by interment in Hanover Green cemetery. Sugar Notch, where the family plot is located.

Meantime, Pennsylvanians in all walks of life and of varying political creeds made known their condolences to the governor in his hour of grief. Telegrams, telephone calls and letters in steady sequence were received at the executive mansion.

Young James was stricken Friday at Boonville where, accompanied by Colonel Estes, he had gone to enter Keper Military Academy. An emergency appendectomy was ordered, and for a time Saturday the patient appeared to have rallied.

Governor James took to the air for the second time in his life and flew to the bedside of his son. He was followed later by Dorothy who congress. The president probably will reveal the contents of his special message to congress in which he is expected to ask for repeal of the embargo on shipment of U. S. arms to warring nations abroad.

Bring Leaders Together
The White House move to bring national Republican and Democratic leaders together on the eve of the special session follows out the president's recent radio address in which he urged that "partisanship and selfishness be adjourned" in the interests of unity. Early said.

Early said he did not know how Gov. Landon stood on the subject of repeal of the arms embargo nor had the White House endeavored to check his attitude.

Over the week-end, the president continued his telephonic conversations preliminary to the opening of the special session—although he did not call any of those who will take part in the Wednesday meeting. These include Vice-President Garner, Secretary of State Hull, Speaker Bankhead, Senate Majority Leader Barkley, Senate Minority Leader McNary, House Majority Leader Rayburn, House Foreign Relations Chairman Pittman, House Foreign Affairs Chairman Bloom, Assistant Senate Republican Leader Austin and Senator Minton, Democratic whip.

GLASSES CHANGED HER
She had a nasty little temper that was notorious in the neighborhood. But, contrary to everyone's opinion, it didn't come from being "spoiled." It was her eyesight that made her chronically irritable. Eyestrain that increased her nervous tension. Glasses changed her into a normal, sociable youngster!

WAR'S IRONY IN THE SAAR

THE French advance into the Saar presents one of those ironies with which war is filled.

The Saar is the only territory added to the Third Reich by Fuehrer Hitler in a legal and peaceful manner. The Versailles settlement provided a plebiscite in the Saar, by which the inhabitants were to decide whether they wished to adhere to Germany or France. The plebiscite, handled by the League of Nations, and policed by British war veterans in mufti, was orderly and correct. In a peaceful and orderly manner, a model procedure for handling a difficult problem of jurisdiction, the Saar voted to go back to Germany. And the French abided by the decision.

Now this single example of peaceful and orderly aggrandizement of the Third Reich is the first territory to fall to French bayonets, simply because Hitler's later aggrandizements departed so far from the orderly internationalism set by the Saar procedure. That's war's irony.

TO MAKE STATE HIGHWAYS SAFER

Governor James' instruction to the Secretary of Highways to provide center lines for all of Pennsylvania's highways as rapidly as possible is an excellent safety move. As the Governor points out, these lines are "the traffic policemen of the lonely road." In sections where fog abounds and at hilltops they are especially desirable to keep cars on the right side of the highway and avert collisions.

State highway construction, wherever practical, should provide physical barriers to separate the opposing traffic lanes, and sidewalks for pedestrian use. In the meantime, extension of the center lines should prevent many accidents.

LINDBERGH'S WARNING

When Col. Charles A. Lindbergh warns the United States to stay out of the European mess, and paints an uninviting picture of what will happen if we don't, he speaks as a man who lived in Europe during the years when every preparation was being made for the present slaughter.

Lindbergh hobnobbed with the boys in London, Paris, Berlin and Moscow, he lived in England and France, and his conclusion is that if Americans attempt to save democracy in Europe, they may lose it at home.

Certainly his words were the words of an expert when he declared that the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans were still barriers for the United States, even against modern aircraft.

Picturing the cost of involvement by the United States in the present struggle in Europe as the lives of a million—possibly several million American youths—added: "We will be staggering under the burden of recovery the rest of our lives. And our children will be fortunate if they see the end in their lives even if, by some unlikely chance, we do not pass on another Polish Corridor to them."

Lindbergh added his voice to those who have maintained that the United States can best service civilization by acting as the bulwark for the type of civilization Europe has known. If Europe is dragged down, nothing can be gained by being dragged down with her.

This, then, is the advice of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

MAY BE BENEFICIAL EXILE

"Even if London is bombed, the next generation will be saved," said a recent news dispatch from the British capital. And indeed it will be, in more ways than one.

Evacuated only the other day from London, millions of children, for the most part happily unaware of their hebra's horrible import, left hot city streets for the comparative safety of England's golden-tinted countryside. It is the dawn of an imperishable dream for many rickety, hollow-chested tots, pavement-born and bred.

They will be belittled variously, with families whose vastly different manner of living—tuned to Nature's quiet tempo—cannot help exerting a powerful influence upon the underprivileged youngsters of the slums. And, with the easy elasticity of youth, homesickness will soon vanish.

Granting war's air threats never materialize in these temporary retreats, another and more far-reaching revolution will be developing within the most phlegmatic child's breast. That is a deep-seated resolve to demand and to work for healthful conditions such as they are now meeting and enjoying for the first time, in many instances.

Beneficial exile such as these plastic, impressionable London youths are now happily enduring in Britain's lovely rural areas might well be practiced in a less threatening reference by every nation which suffers the blight of dense population in metropolitan districts.

Six months ago, Hooton of Harvard said man was reverting to the ape. Others thought there would be no war.

Atrocities: "Because of the boom in stocks, the New York Stock Exchange Golf Association has had to postpone its September tournament."

One hears nothing now of the Burlington Liars Club—which is just as well. War communications are to be written, and this is no time for the novice.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

WONDERFUL
The Scenario writers for the Moving Pictures do not seem to be able to give the public a new Play. They work up the same old illusions of love, crime and accident, continually. The producers of these Pictures would like to produce something new; something original. There is a market for that sort of a Play in Hollywood at all times, but the imagination of the playwrights does not seem to be great enough to give the public something new.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

EXPLODING A SCHOOL MYTH

"THEOBOLD was just born short in spelling. His father and his only uncle could never spell. But he is good in reading and arithmetic." "Poor Marguerite will never make good grades in arithmetic, even though she never makes poor ones in spelling and reading. She was born that way."

Such remarks are often heard from parents and teachers, and often believed by the child who hears them. Acceptance of this myth is comforting to both parents and teachers, since it relieves them of responsibility for the child's arrears in any special school subject. And many a child is doomed to go through life a maven in mathematics, reading or spelling, even though he is superior in other forms of book learning, thanks to this superstition.

Can Be Taught

There is available no scientific evidence which clearly proves that a child or adult, who is good in one or more of the basic school subjects, can't learn to do fairly well, or equally well, in any other basic subject, barring eye and ear defects, of course. Careful studies have been made of children with alleged special disabilities, as in reading, spelling or arithmetic, and when pains were taken to help them overcome the particular difficulties, remarkable success was achieved.

I personally have dealt with a number of such children, but I have not yet found a single case in which marked improvement in the lagging subject did not register under special guidance of the child.

Naturally, we might expect a disability in music or art because of limitations in vision and hearing, in perception and discrimination of color or form, pitch or tone. But much lagging interest in art and music can often be traced to unfavorable early experiences of the child.

Doesn't Prove Anything
There are many persons with average or superior ability in other directions who are ignominious failures in a particular subject. Yet, this fact does not prove they had to be failures, or that they can't master this subject even yet. The older they grow, however, the less likely they are to overcome the handicap.

Such failures might have had their beginnings in the early years at school. The child who is humiliated at school for his failures suffers more and more because his arrears multiply, and his arrears pile up because he suffers. How easy it must be for him to believe he never will be able to master the subject!

It hardly will help the child lagging in one subject to tell him he ought to do as well in that subject as in others. Let it be a matter of opportunity to escape pains of defeat and enjoy pleasures from successes. Nor should he be expected to do very well in the subject, with all the burdening emotions to hamper him. Why expect a miracle?

The safe and sensible thing for parents and teachers to do is to take the responsibility for setting the stage so the child who lags in just one subject will win and enjoy success in that subject.

Q. What do you think of the father who is always telling his boy how hard he worked and how little he spent when "I was your age?"
A. I think he is acting very childishly.

CANNING TIME

Along about September with the women making pickles. There's a tang of heavy richness which may palate always tickles. Then the air is heavy-laden with the Orient's fragrant spices. And the kitchen holds temptation which the soul of me entices.

There are sages who will tell us life's a solemn sort of mission. Joy is something they would banish neath the sternest prohibition. In their dreadful scheme of living (is this metaphor too silly?) They've no place for mustard pickles or for currant jam or chili.

These philosophers of sadness are forever preaching sorrow. Yesterday was filled with trouble and likewise will be tomorrow.

But along about September from the kitchen windows pouring Comes the smell of jelly-making and my soul goes upward space.

Is it trifling to be happy when the grapes and "crabs" are stewing? Is it childish to find gladness in the autumn's spicy brewing? I will bet both Aristotle and the cunning Machiavelli Found this life enriched no little by their women's currant jelly.

Every day more Americans are thinking the last war was stopped too soon.

Nowadays the person who cannot do a thing well, if he is smart, gets some one to do it who knows how.

The modern life isn't neglectful. She may not mend her man's socks, but she still mends his ways.

The bustle don't seem to be coming back as fast as we thought it would. Sort of lagging behind.

It isn't what people ought to think that matters as much as what people actually think.

OUR UNCLE

To millions of Americans, Uncle Sam is as much a person of flesh and blood as is Charles McCarthy. There is in both these American characters another similarity, though in a sense paradoxical. It is that both hold to the age of their creation—Uncle Sam has never been younger and Charles McCarthy has never been older.

According to his biographer Uncle Sam made his first public appearance during our misunderstanding with Great Britain in 1812 in the guise of one Sam Wilson, a Government inspector of army meat and provisions. The food was packed in barrels and one of Wilson's duties was to stamp each barrel inspected and accepted, with the Federal initials "U. S." These barrels, which seemed to pop up at every barracks, evoked much hilarious comment among the men, one private explaining to his buddy that the initials were those of Uncle Sam who owns "a terrific lot of victuals." The joke spread and became so popular that a song, "Uncle Sam is rich enough to give us all a farm," became the popular army song of the day.

As to the illustrator who created the striking character that has found a warm spot in the heart of every American, his biographer gives no information. If, and when, this illustrator is discovered, he should have his niche in the Hall of Fame. For Uncle Sam, as we know him, the long, lanky, rawboned individual, with flowing hair and goat whiskers, costumed in long tailed coat, high beaver hat, and trousers held up by garters and down by straps under the instep, is the personification of our ideals. No truer character could have been conjured up to represent the United States of America—hardly yet kindly, sympathetic, almost to a fault, slow to anger but stern in justice. He knows no creed or caste to him "all men are born equal." In these times of stress as other countries, less fortunately located, grope in darkness, fearful of the precipice which lies ahead, we in the United States of America find a comforting security in the strength and the wisdom of our Uncle Sam.

They said it couldn't be done, but the poor fool didn't know it and he went ahead and did it!

Summer Welles Is Good Choice
Representative At Panama Parley
Has Had Considerable Experience

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist
WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The selection of Undersecretary of State Summer Welles by President Roosevelt to be Uncle Sam's chief representative at the Pan-American conference scheduled for the latter part of September at Panama City, was a particularly suitable one. This coming conference will be considerably different, due to war conditions in Europe, from the series of Pan-American conferences which have preceded it. These earlier conferences were rather general in their nature. They were intended to promote good relations between the new world republics, and undoubtedly they did help to do it, but they didn't result in any very definite agreements. This time the conferees know specifically what they're after. The Latin Americans need North American manufactured goods—goods that they've been getting mainly from Europe, but which Europe isn't now in a position to continue supplying them with. And the United States wants this trade; we do not only want it but we want to keep it.

Now Summer Welles has had a lot of experience in the Latin world. He knows especially why we didn't make much out of a similar opportunity we had during and just after the last world war, for he was first secretary of the U. S. embassy in Buenos Aires at that juncture and fully understands, from personal observation, just how we muffed that chance. Incidentally, he speaks good Spanish and some Portuguese, and has a personality that the Latins like. As they express it, he's "simpatico."

If we do a good job at Panama City, and follow it up subsequently, we'll have something resembling a Pan-American confederation, and Summer Welles can guarantee a good job if anybody can.

Pan-American Complimentary
The Latin America have bottomless resources but they're not manufacturers. They have no end of raw materials, some of which we greatly require in our business—like tin, nitrates, coffee, rubber, tropical woods et cetera. They likewise are the world's last frontier. Gosh! How they cry out for development! Talk about idle capital in this country! If Latin America isn't a field for its investment, it's hard to think of one.

In the meantime, though, the Latins have to buy their manufactured stuff abroad. Before the last world war they bought most of it from Europe—notably from England and Germany. When the 1914 war started these sources of supply were cut off, and the Latins turned, perforce, to North America. Then we got into the muss, which coked us up. I was living in Argentina then. There was a regular famine in the most ridiculous sort of things—such as twine and chicken wire, civilized shoes, matches and just ordinary paper. The Latins had plenty of raw material but they couldn't process it.

Well, the war ended Europe's industries were flat on their back. It took 'em quite awhile to get going again. But we were keyed up to our maximum. So they turned to us, and if we'd given 'em decent treatment, we'd have kept 'em as permanent customers.

Muffed Our Chance
But we didn't. On an average we sold 'em our inferior goods at fancy prices. We made 'em pay before we shipped 'em anything. Then, if they hollered, we told 'em to go chase 'emself; we had their money already.

It was partly pure ignorance. Our manufacturers refused to recognize that our summer is winter below the equator, and that our winter is summer there. They persisted in trying to load the sub-equatorials up with their goods at the beginning of their summer and with summer goods at the beginning of their winter. The North American chambers of commerce in Buenos Aires, Rio de Janeiro and elsewhere reared their heads off, but nobody at home paid any attention to 'em.

The result was that, as soon as Europe began to get back into action, Latin America switched to Europe again, and our trade went floozy.

"Never again," should be our motto.

Summer Welles is a dandy selection to get it adopted.

"It is madness to send our soldiers to be killed as we did in the last war and if we turn the course of peace over to the greed, the fear, and the intrigue of European nations."

NEW YORK—Under Secretary of State Summer Welles praises the relationship existing between the American republics.

A Chance To Speak Out

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.
BEFORE the special session of Congress convenes it is interesting to note that the two most conspicuous Senatorial candidates for the Republican Presidential nomination have taken unequivocal positions on the embargo issue—Senator Robert Taft, of Ohio, on one side and Senator Vandenberg, of Michigan, on the other.

SENATOR BRIDGES of New Hampshire, who, with an enthusiastic press agent and great energy, is running more actively than anyone in the field in either party, as yet has not definitely announced his stand. But that is not a matter of vast importance, as Mr. Bridges' candidacy has not reached a stage where, except by himself, it is taken seriously. The candidates of importance are Mr. Taft and Mr. Vandenberg. While Mr. Bridges has a vote in the Senate fully equal to that of either Mr. Taft or Mr. Vandenberg, what he says is not really as significant. It may not even be news.

BUT with the other two—Taft and Vandenberg—it is different. They along with Mr. Dewey, of New York are the outstanding aspirants for the Republican nomination. In all probability one of the three will be nominated nine months hence and he may be President in 1941. Hence, their views are important, first, because of their political prospects; second, because of the enormity of the problems, both foreign and domestic, which loom ahead; third, because they are men of character and capacity.

MR. TAFT HAS come out in favor of lifting the embargo, which, in the coming struggle, will put him on the President's side. As Mr. Taft has been a vigorous and emphatic opponent of practically every Roosevelt domestic policy, particularly of the spending program, which is so overwhelmingly a part of the New Deal, his flat declaration, made some weeks ago, for the Roosevelt-Hull policy, is an indication of the completeness with which this fight will cut across party lines. It is also an indication that Mr. Taft is a man of conviction, who abandoned partisanship on this issue before the war broke out or Mr. Roosevelt made his appeal.

HOWEVER, the fact that Senator Vandenberg's position is exactly the reverse and he will take a leading to us, and if we'd given 'em decent treatment, we'd have kept 'em as permanent customers.

FOR one thing, sentiment in the press and among the people seem strongly in favor of the Roosevelt-Hull proposal. For another, many of the leading Republican businessmen of Mr. Vandenberg's own State, for business reasons, favor lifting the embargo. There, of course, is no way to forecast the political effect of his course upon either of these Presidential aspirants but it does seem that the Vandenberg risk is somewhat greater than that of Mr. Taft, inasmuch as the isolationist party, to which the former is now attached, is extremely unlikely to prevail.

CONSIDERING the fact that various Republicans of prominence of Congress have felt called upon to express their views on this issue, there is considerable speculation here as to whether District Attorney Dewey will not follow suit. He is a recognized aspirant for the Presidency and leads in all the polls. It is true he is not a member of the Senate where the question will come up for vote and of course, it has not the remotest connection with the job he now holds. Nevertheless, it is a vital matter upon which both parties will divide and leading men in each hold strong convictions.

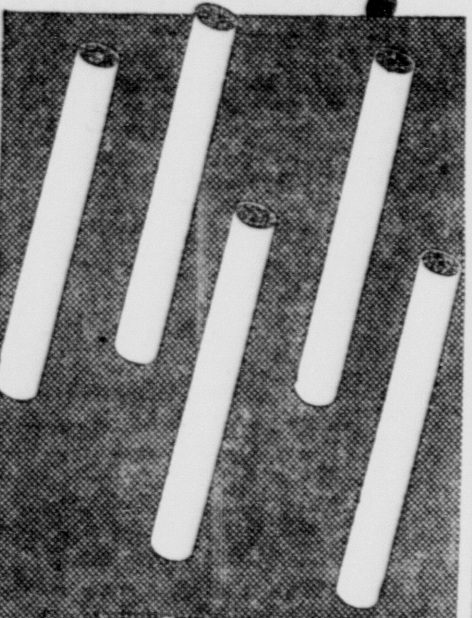

FROM time to time the point has been made against Mr. Dewey that he really vital issues of the day, or even that he has any. It would not be surprising if in this neutrality fight he found some suitable opportunity to meet that complaint and make a statement. To do so may conflict with his policy of attending strictly to his own business and saying nothing that would incite consciousness of his candidacy. On the other hand, to keep neutral while his two rivals have chosen sides on such a question may lend some color to the charge that he is trying to pussyfoot his way into the nomination and lacks convictions. Some of his friends are of the opinion that coyness about his candidacy has been carried far enough and that the time to speak is here. It is something for Mr. Dewey to think about.

There will be 16 barracks, officers' dwellings, a hospital and nurses' home, a theatre, a post-office, warehouses and shops. The Fort will be used as a training area for U. S. Army regulars, National Guard units and Citizens Military Training Corps. Wooden barracks are being replaced with new buildings to house enlisted men. Three recently constructed gun ranges are already in use.

Rehabilitation was started in 1937 when $393,979 was granted for six projects. More than 1,300,000 has been appropriated to date. Established as a permanent peacetime garrison last March, the name was changed from Camp Dix to Fort Dix.

Master-Mind Of Poison - Murder
Ring On Trial

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18.—Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. McDevitt today told a jury of seven men and five women that he would show Paul Petrillo, asserted "master-mind" of Philadelphia's arsenic-murder ring, caused the death of Luigi La Vecchio, 45, and collected the dead man's insurance.

Before presentation of evidence began, a half-hour side-bar conference was held among McDevitt, Presiding Judge Albert S. C. Millar and Defense Counsel Lemuel B. Schofield. The nature of the conference was not revealed.

"This is not a persecution, but a prosecution," McDevitt asserted. "The Commonwealth wants only justice to be done in this case."

"We will show that Paul Petrillo obtained insurance on the life of La Vecchio before the latter's death on August 9, 1932. We will also show that the victim was exhumed seven years later and that arsenic was found in his body."

Two Stand Trial For Hold Up At
A. And P. Store

John P. Simison, Involved
As Driver Of Car, Enters
Plea Of Guilty

DANIELS AND KOSKY ARE STANDING TRIAL

Jimmy Daniele and Sam Kosky of Pittsburgh, were placed on trial before Judge W. Walter Braham at court this morning on a charge of robbing an Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company store on East Washington street. John P. Simison, of Oil City, who was involved in the robbery, entered a plea.

The robbery occurred on August 4. Three men came to the scene in an automobile alleged to have been driven by Simison. Daniele and Kosky, are alleged to have entered the store. At the point of a revolver they held up J. R. Leonard, manager of the store, and Joseph Proctor and Alton Richael, clerks. They, with Eleanor McKibben, a customer, were locked in a back room of the store, while the couple rifled the cash register.

The first witness called by the prosecution was George Price, a city policeman, who was off duty at the time. He testified that he was sitting in his automobile at the back end of a store formerly used by the A. and P. company at the corner of East Washington and Maryland avenue. He was waiting for his wife to join him, when an automobile containing three men drove up and stopped near by.

He did not know any of the men, but from their actions he became suspicious. He jotted down the number of the license plates on the car. Two of the men got out and started down an alley. In the meanwhile Mr. Price's wife came out and got in his car. Still suspicious, Price drove down around the A. and P. store at the corner of Winslow and East Washington street. He saw the men near it and driving around a block again, he saw them coming out of the store and hurriedly got into their auto which had also been driving around the block.

Sensing that a holdup had occurred Price told his wife to run into the A. and P. store and render any aid necessary, while he ran into another and called police headquarters, giving the number of the car. The three men were later arrested. Price identified Daniele as one of the men.

Other witnesses who were in the store gave details of the holdup.

NEW ACID-TANK LINING

(International News Service)
AKRON—Chemically one of the most inert substances born in research laboratories in recent years is a synthetic material which scientists call Koroseal. So resistant to corrosion is the new substance that it is now being used by one of the world's largest steel mills to line a tank holding 3,000 gallons of hydrofluoric and nitric acids, a violent corrosive combination used in the "pickling" process to clean stainless steel.

State To Cooperate In U. S. Neutrality Plans

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 18.—Political differences were pushed into the background today as the James administration, seeking the "greatest cooperation" with the federal government in keeping the United States out of war, at the same time demanded retention of all possible state's right in case of national emergency.

House Speaker Ellwood J. Turner, R. Delaware, in a letter to Commerce Secretary Richard P. Brown, chairman of the Pennsylvania Commission on Interstate Cooperation, urged that the commission be called into session in an effort to secure a guarantee of the "delegation of powers."

Turner suggested that the commission "assist the president in smoothing out those places where federal emergency powers clash with the states, and at the same time offer constructive criticism of the extension of federal powers where the states do not believe it to be necessary."

"We certainly do not want to do anything that will prevent our government from properly handling our relations to the world in a time like this," Turner declared. "It is a time for cooperation and not for antagonism. On the other hand, such times demand that the citizen be alert and on guard so that for the common good in making necessary sacrifices of liberties, he does not surrender more than is required."

Historical Group Seeking Rare Photos And Paintings

Old pictures, photographs and paintings of individuals, buildings and scenes which figured prominently in the early history of Lawrence county are now being collected by the committee on pictures, photographs and paintings of the Lawrence County Historical Society, it was announced today.

The committee recognizes that there is in the possession of many persons in the city and elsewhere, data of this kind that is of great value and should be preserved for future generations.

One of the purposes of organizing the Lawrence County Historical society was to provide a safe depository for such material and make it accessible to the public.

The committee must depend on the generosity of citizens who have this material and their willingness to co-operate with the historical society in having it preserved, by voluntarily donating it to the society, or by permitting the pictures to be reproduced where that is possible.

Asks Residents To Help

The historical society is making an appeal to those who have such materials to disclose it to some member of the committee whose names appear below, and if so disposed, to donate it to the society for the use and benefit of future generations.

Members of the committee on pictures, photographs and paintings of Lawrence County Historical society follow:

Believe Germany And Soviet Have Agreed To Carve Up Central Europe

By ROBERT G. NIXON

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Germany and Soviet Russia have secretly agreed to carve up Central Europe from the Baltic to the Black Sea to re-establish virtually the same borders of 1914, according to information reaching high Washington circles through diplomatic channels.

Both Russia and Germany suffered huge territorial losses by the World war of 1914-18. The agreement, which it is now learned was a secret protocol of the Soviet-German non-aggression pact, would return these lost territories to both.

Russia's attack from the rear on the remnant of Poland's army is regarded as only the first step in this process, these sources said. And the crushing of Poland between the vise of the German and Russian hordes, likewise, according to Washington's information, is only the springboard for an attempt to enforce a crushing peace on Great Britain and France.

With the Polish army annihilated or forced to surrender, Germany and the Soviet Union have agreed, according to the secret protocol, to:

1. Divide Poland between them, Germany retaining the two-thirds, and richest part of Poland already won by force of arms, and Russia taking the balance.

2. A common border would be formed between the two powerful neighbors.

3. Germany would permit the Soviet Union to dispose of the Baltic states—Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia—without interference to give Russia an all-year outlet on the Baltic, and to retake Bessarabia from Rumania. Finland's autonomy would be preserved.

4. In return, the Soviet would give Germany a free hand in south central Europe, the single stipulation being that Germany will not try to seize the balance of Rumania, thus blocking Russia in the Black Sea.

Forty-Nine C. C. C. Camps To Continue In State

By ARTHUR C. WIMER

(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 18.—Forty-nine CCC camps will continue to be operated in Pennsylvania during the 14th enrollment period, October 1, 1939, to March 31, 1940, Robert Fechner, director of the CCC, announced today.

Among the camps to be continued is that in Beaver county at the Racoon Creek recreation demonstration area. The new camp will be opened at Beaverdale in Blair county. The Trexler-Lehigh county game preserve camp in Lehigh county will be closed. All other camps will be continued, thus leaving the Pennsylvania total unchanged at 49.

A maximum of approximately 9,800 CCC enrollees in the Pennsylvania camps will be engaged in conservation work during the new period. They will carry out projects in the 49 camps located as follows: three in the Allegheny National Forest; 33 on state forest land; seven on demonstration areas, where soil erosion measures will be conducted, and six in national parks.

Report Russian Troops At Vilna

(International News Service)

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Russian troops have reached Vilna, in Poland and near the Lithuanian frontier, a Reuters dispatch said it was reported in Riga, Latvia, today.

An exchange telegraph message from Budapest, Hungary, said Berlin newspapers heard rumors that Lithuanian troops occupied Vilna. These reports, said Exchange, were regarded as premature, but Lithuanian action was expected hourly.

Vilna was the historic capital of Lithuania, and the center of a territorial conflict between Poland and Lithuania three years ago. Masing of Polish troops near the Lithuanian frontier forced the Lithuanians to relinquish their claims on the city, and diplomatic relations were opened between the two countries for the first time.

AUTO DEATHS LOWER

Canadian Flying Boat Forced Down

Sighted Eight Hours Later By Swedish Steamer Pollux

(International News Service)

CHATHAM, Mass., Sept. 18.—A Canadian flying boat, bearing radio call letters CFBMS made a forced sea landing 100 miles off the Nova Scotia coast today and was sighted eight hours later by the Swedish steamer Pollux, according to word received by the radio marine corporation station.

Word of the flying boat's plight was relayed to shore by the steamship American, merchant, which picked up an SOS from the plane shortly after midnight.

More than eight hours later, the Pollux picked up the automatic radio alarm signal used by the American merchant and reported she was one mile from the scene. Six minutes later the Pollux captain radioed he had sighted the plane and was enroute to the rescue.

The flying boat gave her position as latitude 46.35 north, longitude 59.25 West.

The plane's name, home port, destination and number of persons aboard were unknown.

Hottest Day Of Summer Recorded Here On Saturday

Mercury Soars To Ninety-Six And A Half Degrees, Weather Observer Reports

With autumn only a few days in the offing, Old Sol played a blistering hot trick on the residents of the local community, when he focused his rays unrelentingly and sent the mercury soaring to the highest mark of the summer, a 96.5 degree reading being recorded at the United States Weather Recording station.

In direct contrast was Sunday's weather, when it again became seasonal, the highest mark being 64 degrees, accompanied with a strong breeze which made it seem even cooler. By early this morning, the temperature had dropped to 37 degrees, just five points above freezing.

It is believed that the heat wave which has gripped the local district, along with the rest of the nation, has been effectively broken and the weather from now on will be in keeping with the season, but one never can tell about the weather. It is as fickle as a maiden's blush.

DOCTOR DETAILS SYMPTOMS ACCOMPANYING FRAC- TURED SKULL

Not long ago a youngster suffering from a very unusual injury was brought in to see me. He had fallen from a platform and landed in a sitting position with such force that he had fractured his skull. The jar on one end of the spine had been so severe that it drove the other end right into the base of the skull.

After the accident, the child became sick to his stomach, then he bled from the nose. Finally his parents brought him to see me. When they told me the history of the case, I suspected a fractured skull at once and asked them if the boy had been hit on the head. They replied in the negative and I wasted a lot of time in physical examination before I discovered a large bruise on his buttocks. When I asked what had happened and was told of the accident, I realized it was a skull fracture.

Usually the skull is fractured by a blow on the head. For instance, every summer there are a few skulls fractured by people diving and striking their heads against a rock on the bottom. In fact, any accident that causes the skull to be hit a heavy blow may cause a fracture. There are certain symptoms which usually attend a fracture and perhaps if I were to enumerate them, it would be of assistance in identifying the injury.

Unconsciousness is one of the most common conditions to accompany a fracture. However, a person may be knocked unconscious by a blow to the head without bringing fracture, even with a fracture this unconsciousness may last only a minute and may not be noticed unless the patient is discovered at once.

Vomiting, common with such fractures, usually does not appear for a few minutes after the injury and it may be projectile—thrown several feet with force—or it may not be. Bleeding from the nose and the ears is of considerable importance if it takes place after an injury to the skull. If the bleeding is just from the nose a lot of the significance depends on whether or not the child's nose bleeds easily. But if there is bleeding from the ears, then one is wise to consider that a fracture has taken place and act accordingly.

The size of the bruise which accompanies the fracture is of help in deciding whether the skull is broken or not. If there is a cut as well one can tell quite a bit by probing the wound. It isn't likely that a fracture would occur if there were not a cut of some sort on the head—that is, unless it was a fracture of the type I described at the outset.

Occasionally a dent in the bone can be felt under the injury area, but this would have to be discovered immediately after the accident because swelling appears soon after.

I don't need to emphasize that if a child—or adult, for that matter—has had a heavy blow on the head, the thing to do is call a doctor at once. Often these accidents occur in remote parts of the country, and it may well be that even when the doctor is called he will not be sure about the fracture until he has had a chance to X-ray the spot.

Geneva Reports High Enrollment

College Classes Open With 516
Students In Attendance—
165 Freshmen

(Special To The News)
BEAVER FALLS, Sept. 18.—Geneva college for the 91st successive year began her work last week with a greatly increased enrollment over that of any previous year since the early years of the recent financial depression.

Of the 516 enrolled to date in the regular day school—which is 16 more than the maximum limit fixed by the board of trustees—165 are freshmen and the remainder former students of Geneva and transfers from other colleges. The college authorities permitted the excess enrollment with the thought that, as has been the case in former years, a dozen or more will likely drop out of school for various reasons before the beginning of the second semester early in February, 1940.

Three new professors were introduced to the faculty and student body at the opening assembly: Leslie Fallon, Ph. D., of Yale university; Miss Ethel Park, M. A., of Syracuse university, and Miss Elizabeth Kemio of the Sorbonne, Paris, France. The first named will teach chemistry, the second public speaking and act as head resident of the girls' dormitory, and the third will teach French and English.

The members of the faculty and their families, to the number of 100, attended a picnic and dinner at Ewing Park, Ellwood City, the early evening of September 15. This is an annual affair soon after the opening of the first semester.

Not Europe's War But Petters Cause Closing Of Gate

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—It wasn't Europe's war. It was that funny thing called love.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, at her press conference was asked why the exit gate to the White House grounds had been closed and a guard stationed there.

She replied that it had been closed—"not because of the war"—but because the grounds there had become a favorite trysting place for petters. Mrs. Roosevelt smiled and then said that maybe the romantic couples didn't go there to pet, but just to listen to the radio in the nearby usher's office.

However, Mrs. Roosevelt revealed that Europe's war will have some effect at the White House. She said it would require changes in White House entertainment during the coming winter season. She pointed out that because of the President's extra work due to the war, it would be impossible to continue evening entertainments.

German Subs Are Running Short On Torpedoes And Fuel

(International News Service)

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Many of the German submarines in the Atlantic ocean have shot their last torpedoes and others are in need of fuel, The London Daily Telegraph reported today from Paris.

The dispatch said that this information was based on a semi-official report concerning intercepted radio messages from German U-boats.

The allies' cruiser and destroyer squadrons, said the report, are intensifying their submarine hunt and also are carrying out a systematic search for German freighters which are believed to be acting as "mother-ships" giving supplies to the German submarines.

It also was reported that a second group of German submarines have left their bases to relieve the undersea craft which have been operating for the past three weeks.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Last February small news items from Europe reported that the European peasants, particularly in France, were again warming up the carnagione, an ancient dance which is supposed to foretell war. Later, there were several other brief items. I clipped one of them and put it in the suspense file. Unhappily it becomes timely today.

"Around Monaco and in the neighborhood of Aix-la-Chapelle," this story ran, "the peasants are solemnly stepping into the Mediaeval carnagione, the dance which is supposed to be a prophesy of war. There is apparently nothing more than legend to support the story, but this legend is that in the years before the French Revolution, peasants were swirling and stamping in this strange dance all over France. One can find no historic record, or any instance of scientific attention to the phenomenon, but it is unquestionably a tenant of ancient continental folk lore, not only in France but in several other countries."

What caught my eye was that reference to Aix-la-Chapelle. It was at Aix-la-Chapelle that the weird dancing mania of the Middle Ages started in 1373. It last for years, with multitudes frantically whirling across Europe, many of them dying from exhaustion and starvation. Much has been written on this strange aberration, but I find no conjecture as to any possible prophetic phase. The late William on back a few years, he would find that the first World War was preceded by a dancing mania. He would be interested in the phenomenon of Vernon and Irene Castle coming to the peak of their careers and pacing the country into a national dance obsession just before the guns blazed in Belgium. He also would be interested in this story being re-told in one of the finest films of the time, just before the start of the second world war—as it may yet be. And he would take account of the welling up of savage rhythms in Beale Street, Memphis, and the levers and slums of New Orleans; of the sudden explosion of the "Texas Tommy" in San Francisco, with Paul Whiteman's baton ordering this new dissonance into jazz, and a nation catching the frenetic beat.

Jazz touching off the first World War and swing the second one, if you like nice, pat deductions and analogies. But that's like making mud pies, in which facts are plastic instead of stubborn.

If you are interested in getting at the authoritative records, I commend to you the one-volume condensation of Sir James George Frazer's magnificent 50-volume work, "The Golden Bough." Indexed under "Dances," you will find just about all that is known about of ceremonial or prophetic phases of this strange phenomenon. Fostering superstition in times like this is the last thing any responsible person would want to do. "The Golden Bough" is also a golden argosy of facts for those who seek the intellectual as well as the moral equivalent of war.

Westminster Will Train U. S. Pilots

Work Of Instructing Student
Air Pilots To Be Started
On October 1

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 18.—Westminster college will be one of Pennsylvania colleges, thus far licensed, to train student air-pilots, beginning October 1.

Only 12 colleges in the United States were authorized last year in aeronautical training, on an $100,000 NYA appropriation. This year $5,475,000 was appropriated June 15 through the Civil Pilots Training Act, for training 15,000 pilots during the year ending June 30, 1940.

Only 10 per cent of the group will come from the non-college ranks. The government will spend about $325 on each man trained. In addition, $300,000 will be spent this year to aid colleges with ground courses. Each student in the course will pay the college $40 for medical fees, insurance and transportation. The curriculum will follow closely the training programs of the Army and Navy.

The government plans to have approximately 2,200 competent pilots in two years, out of the 25,000 candidates available at that time from college-trained men.

The training course will be spread over the entire school year, with ground-training being taught through the department of physics.

Congressmen Beginning To Arrive For Special Session

Neutrality To Be Chief Issue

Fast Moving Developments In War Abroad Sharpen Division

BORAH UNCHANGED IN EMBARGO STAND

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Fast moving developments in the war abroad sharpened congressional division over neutrality legislation today as members started arriving for the special session convening Thursday.

Forces opposing President Roosevelt quickly seized on the Russian invasion of Polish territory as a powerful argument for retention of the present neutrality law's ban on sale of American arms and munitions to fighting nations. Legislators supporting the president bluntly announced Russia's action increased the need for repeal of the embargo and reliance upon international law.

Senator Borah (R) Idaho, head of the isolation bloc fighting for retention of the embargo, said:

"I don't think there's any more doubt that Germany and Russia thoroughly understand one another and are working in agreement. This does not increase the danger of American involvement in the European war, unless we want it to do so. It does emphasize the increased need for a law that will permit sale of American arms or munitions to the nations fighting in the old world. It is certainly a most significant development."

Speaking for the administration forces Senator Thomas (D) Utah, said that he believed the Russian activities, and the reported aggression negotiations between Russia and Japan made out a strong case for repeal of the arms embargo and for America to go back to international law.

Rev. D. J. Blasdel Re-Named Secretary

New Castle Pastor Elected At Conference—Mrs. S. C. Hart Named Delegate

(International News Service)

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 18.—A significant resolution on neutrality from the Christian viewpoint stood adopted today by the Erie conference of the new United Methodist church, in session of the First Methodist church of this city.

"We cannot accept war as an instrument for the settlement of international differences except as a last resort where a clear-cut moral issue is involved," the resolution stated.

Mentioning the similarity of conditions as of today and in 1914, the resolution continued:

"Our nation should not enter this war and we urge the president of the United States and congress about to reassemble in special session to take every possible step to avoid the entanglement of our country in this war."

Following the proclamation of Bishop Adna Wright Leonard of Pittsburgh, declaring the Erie conference an integral part of the new Methodist church, D. J. Blasdel of New Castle, Pa., was elected secretary of the new body.

Other former officials were re-elected as follows: J. Brent Cook, Rousselle, Pa., treasurer; P. K. Scott, Brockway, Pa., statistician; L. B. Yale, Northeast, Pa., secretary of the former lay conference, assistant secretary; Blain H. Gifford, Erie, Pa., assistant treasurer; B. C. Skinner, DuBois, Pa., assistant statistician.

Leo H. McKay, Sharon, Pa.; Edgar T. Welch, Westfield, N. Y., and Blaine H. Gifford, Erie, were elected delegates to the general conference. With these three, the following also were elected as delegates to the jurisdictional conference: L. B. Yale, Northeast, Pa.; O. E. Black, Salamanca, N. Y.; Mrs. S. C. Hart, New Castle, Pa.

Mrs. Hart will be the first woman to represent the Erie conference on a higher conference. On a still later ballot, D. E. Higby, Meadville, Pa., was elected and on a still later ballot two alternate lay delegates were chosen. They were Edward Peters, Old City, and H. E. Reed, Erie.

Would Not Give Any More Power To President

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 18.—U. S. Senator Styles Bridges (R) New Hampshire, today went on record as against giving any more power to President Roosevelt.

Questioned on the proposed changes in the neutrality, Bridges said "there are several possibilities." "One thing I'm sure against," the senator continued, "is giving that gentleman in Washington any more power."

The New England solon foresaw four possibilities ahead for congress. They were:

"First, let the present neutrality law stand. Second, repeal the entire law and go back to a basis of international law. Third, cash and carry. Fourth, leaving it all up to the president."

Asked what were America's chances of keeping out of war, Bridges replied:

"God knows universal opinion is to stay out of war but I hate to predict the probability of staying out."

Some intensive work has been done on the big jury room at the northeast corner of the court house in order to get it ready for jury duty this week. When a balcony room added for the use of women jurors, this is the first really modern jury room for mixed juries. Heretofore there has been little privacy in the rooms as they were never designed for mixed juries. The new balcony room for ladies is reached by a narrow stairway leading from the room in which deliberations are held. Suspect Is Shot By Police Officer After Tear Gas Is Hurlled

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 18.—A man who says his name is "Joe George" and his address, Youngstown, is in a very critical condition at the local hospital suffering from lung injuries received Sunday evening when he was shot by Night Lieutenant Ernest Hartman, after he had thrown a tear gas bomb in Hartman's eyes while being searched.

After a call received at the local police station at 9:15 p. m. from Attorney Allen D. Keller, the Morris Keller home, Sixth street and Park avenue, had been ransacked and robbed of valuable jewelry and other articles between 7 and 9 p. m., local police were sent to the various streets leading out of town to watch for suspects.

Hartman went to the Line and Wampum avenue intersection leading to the New Castle road, and after watching the said George attempting to "thumb" a ride, approached him and after unsatisfactorily questioning began to search the suspect, who immediately threw the tear gas into Hartman's eyes. Hartman said the suspect had a gun and he, thinking he had been shot, fired at the retreating man. Other officers, including state police, were called to the scene and conducted an unsuccessful search about the neighborhood. Hartman was taken to the local hospital, where he is suffering from painful eye burns.

At 2 a. m. J. E. McDanel, of Jefferson street, Ewing Park, notified police that an injured man was lying on his front porch. Police took the man to the hospital where an examination disclosed that he had been shot through the lungs.

A number of tear gas bombs, a flashlight and several other articles were found in the McDanel hedge, where the injured man had apparently thrown them. Nothing from the Keller home was found to prove that he had participated in the robbery.

Rally Day Program At North Sewickley

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 18.—A splendid Rally Day service was held at the North Sewickley Presbyterian church on Sunday morning with a record attendance of 202 members and visitors.

Under the direction of superintendent, Thomas Baird, a special program was presented including the following numbers: Recitation, "Responsibility," Iola Staff; song, "Be Happy" junior and primary departments; Apostle's creed, Harold Douglass and duet, Mrs. Clem Hayes and Mrs. Walter Allen.

An appropriate Rally Day sermon "Carry Your Cross" was delivered by the pastor, Rev. Robert E. Bell.

These services will celebrate the 88th anniversary of the admission of women into the order. In September, 1851, a small group of women were admitted to the Rebekah degree. The ritual was prepared by Schuyler Colfax, later vice president of the United States.

Colfax had a difficult time getting his fellow members to admit women because feminine equality in those days was unheard of. Today the Rebekah degree is one of the most active branches of the organization and has nearly 650,000 members.

Sunday, September 24th, will be Ellwood City day at the Odd Fellows Orphan home in Pittsburgh. A local minister will accompany the group and have charge of the religious service at 3 p. m. All lodges making a pilgrimage to the home have had not less than 80 in their crowd, and the local lodge hopes to have at least 125. Any one who is interested in the care of children is welcome to join this crowd and urged to go. Starting time will be at 10 a. m. Lloyd Badger is chairman of transportation and those having room in their car and those desiring transportation are asked to call him.

A regular meeting of the lodge will be held on Thursday evening at which time officers will be nominated with the election to be held on Thursday, September 28.

Out-of-town guests at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Tunison and Mr. and Mrs. William Tunison, of Greenville, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Emery, of Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. George Minnick, of Warren, O., Clair Book, of Sharon and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Book, of Youngstown. Other relatives attending from West Middlesex and Pulaski.

Open house was observed throughout the day with a large number of relatives and friends calling to offer best wishes and congratulations. As guests came and went, they were served dainty refreshments by nieces of the couple, who also served the dinner.

A feature of the day was the presence of four generations of the McDanel family, the honored couple, their daughter, Mrs. J. L. Steckman, her son, Jack, and his son, John Richard.

All of the original wedding party attended yesterday's celebration with the exception of three, Mrs. C. S. Terrell, of Cranford, N. J., William Book, of Pittsburgh and Mrs. Annie Barnes, of Warren, O.

Testifying to the esteem and affection of which they are held, the couple was presented with an array of beautiful cards, flowers and gifts.

Bessemer Defeats Ellwood High 18-0 In Opening Game

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 18.—Under a relentless, sweltering sun that hovered at the mid-summer temperature of 95 degrees, Ellwood City high school's football team lost their season's home inaugural to Bessemer high at Lincoln field on Saturday afternoon by the decisive score of 18-0.

Striking in the first, third and last quarters, the twice victors of the Wolverines ran rough-shod over Ellwood's noticeably inexperienced players, who were continuously worn out by the terrific heat.

Two of the winners touchdowns came as the result of "breaks" they got from Ellwood passes. Just a play before the first period ended, Pezzullo intercepted Greco's flat pass intended for Mazzant on the 45 and ran unopposed for the first touchdown. Skuda's attempt for placement was wide.

In the first quarter both teams evidently tried to tire the other by constantly exchanging punts. With Mazzant leading, Ellwood dominated the play in the first period gaining 21 yards in scrimmage to the visitor's eight. The spirit of the Blue and White sank after Bessemer scored, and they were never able to regain their first stand.

Twice time cheated the Croft charges of possible touchdowns. Just as the half ended they took the ball from their 30 to the eight on the famed spread formation play. The second instance occurred just as the end of the game when the Ellwood crew was within two yards of touchdown.

Mid-way in the second period, Moses attempted a field goal for Bessemer, but it was wide and Ellwood immediately booted the ball out of dangerous territory. Taking the ball on their own 30 Biego made four yards on a reverse, a pass from Greco to Maggi counted for 18 yards. Biego added eight on the spread, followed by seven more by Greco on the spread reverse. Greco passed to Miller and the official rule interference by Skuda and the toss was good for 17 yards and a lateral from Mazzant to Biego put the oval on the three yard line as the whistle ended the half.

Bessemer came back strong after the customary half rest and taking the ball on their own goal posts, Pelt made four yards through the line. A reverse and the visitors made all their sizable gains on reverse plays was good for 22 yards, and then Pelt sliced off 28 yards more on a fake reverse. A ruled interference with the passer put the ball on the 12 yard marker and another reverse from Pelt to Kennedy was good for the second tally of the game. Moses attempted drop kick for the extra point did not count.

Nearing the end of the fourth stanza Kennedy took the ball after an Ellwood punt on the 28 and cut off three yards on a reverse. In the next play, Pelt crossed the final stripe on a reverse and the score was Bessemer 18 and Ellwood 0. Pishoneri blocked Moses' drop kick for the extra point.

Then for the first time, Ellwood gave the ball to Murphy, one of last year's outstanding players who is being converted into a blocking quarter this year, and after returning the kick-off from the 15 to the 44, he quickly added 29 yards in line plunges and aided by a shovel pass from Pelt to Biego good for five yards had the ball on the two yard line when the whistle sounded. And from that success it is evident that Ellwood fans will be clamoring to see the Wiley Hill lad carry the ball.

The teams were even in the matter of first downs with seven apiece and there was little difference in the yardage gain including Ellwood's four successful passes for 55 yards.

The attendance for an opening game was disappointing, but was definitely due to the extreme heat. Tanner captained the Ellwood crew and Pelt and Kennedy were co-captains of the winners. Powell, Biggins and Morrison were best in Ellwood's line and Murphy and Biego in the backfield. Outstanding for Bessemer were Drabuchak and F. Skuda and Pezzullo in the line, and Pelt, Kennedy and S. Skuda in the back.

Bands of both teams performed at the half and added a gay spectacle to the afternoon. Donna Harrison leads the Ellwood band and Bob Haines and "Sonny" McDowell are drum majors.

Next Saturday afternoon, Ellwood will be host to Union township. The lineup:

SAYS TREE RINGS DO NOT TELL AGE OF BIG REDWOODS
SACRAMENTO, Cal.—Popular belief to the contrary, tree rings do not tell reliably the age of California's forest giants—redwood trees.

This is the assertion of Professor Emmanuel Fritz of the University of California division of forestry.

Professor Fritz, in a study of tree-growth rings, found logs which gave higher ages at the upper portions than at the butt ends. "Obviously," said the scientist, "a count of rings on one radius may not give the full age."

"A thorough search of the entire surface must be made for locally discontinuous rings to avoid confusion with false rings."

BRITISH AIRCRAFT CARRIER IS SUNK BY GERMAN SUB

been operating with the British reserve fleet since August. She had been in action, the ministry of information said, "with a reduced complement of aircraft."

Since the outbreak of hostilities, it was said, the Courageous has been performing "very good service" in protecting ships of the Mercantile Marine against attacks by submarines.

Destroyers attached to the reserve fleet and merchantmen in the immediate vicinity rushed to the aid of the Courageous after the torpedo struck, and after rescuing as many possible, headed for port.

An official announcement said: "The submarine was immediately heavily attacked by destroyers and is believed to have been sunk."

Whether the submarine was sent to the bottom immediately after sinking the Courageous or whether a lengthy pursuit and sea battle preceded its destruction was not made known.

Toll Is Unknown
The toll of dead aboard the Courageous will not be known, it was said, until rescue vessels reach shore. The British authorities, in accordance with usual practice, refused to divulge the scene of the sinking.

The reserve fleet, however, is believed to have been assigned to the Skagerrak and nearby waters of the North Sea, leading to belief that the incident, the first naval chapter of real importance yet to be written in the new world war, had taken place in that area.

The German submarines have taken a terrific toll of British shipping since the outbreak of hostilities, but, as in the case of the Donaldson, the liner Athena, the sufferers have virtually all been unprotected and unarmed merchantmen.

To Intensify Drive
Sinking of the Courageous was expected inevitably to intensify Britain's efforts to sweep the seas clear of Reichsuehrer Adolf Hitler's submarine raiders. No such blow to the might and prestige of the much-vaunted British navy was suffered in the last war until hostilities were far advanced.

Aircraft carriers rarely venture too far to sea. They generally lie fairly close to shore to enable their combatant planes to seek safety on land in event a sudden storm, fog or other elemental difficulty precludes a descent on the comparatively small area of their flight deck.

It was assumed therefore that the submarine may have succeeded in penetrating Britain's coastal defenses to an extent deemed impossible. This belief appeared to have been substantiated by the fact that a number of merchant ships were able to participate in the rescue.

SLIPPERY ROCK W. C. T. U.
Mrs. Barbara Updegraph of Rose Point was hostess to the Slippery Rock W. C. T. U. at their regular meeting on Thursday p. m., Sept. 14.

Mrs. Illie Weisz was leader and conducted the devotional period reading from Proverbs 1:5-19, and prayer was offered by Rev. Cheeseman of Portersville.

An interesting talk on temperance was given by Rev. Cheeseman, who took "Wine is a mocker, Strong Drink is raging; and Whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise," as the basis of his remarks. The sin of intemperance should be kept before people until they are aroused from their indifference on this subject, and those who are addicted will yield to a higher power for help.

A solo was rendered by Mrs. Lester Stoner and this was followed by reports from county convention by those who attended.

The President, Mrs. Shaw, conducted the business meeting.

A unanimous vote was given to express our appreciation to The News, in their recent stand on the local option vote.

PLAINGROVE UNION
The Plaingrove W. C. T. U. met Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Mrs. Alice Rodgers. The leader was Mrs. Adda Offutt. The following are the program highlights:

"An Abstinence's Misgivings About Marriage Even to a Moderate Drinker"—Mrs. Genevieve Maxwell.

"Teaching the Next Generation"—Mrs. Edna Donley.

"What Is Drink?"—Mrs. Beulah Hohmann.

"The Plan of Alcohol Education"—Mrs. Adda Offutt.

"The New Plan of Teaching Alcohol Education to Children"—Mrs. Pearl Patterson.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess and her aides to 33 members, one visitor, Mrs. Lois Dice, and five children.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Lucille Bell on October 11 at 1:30 p. m. The aides will be Mrs. Mary Burns, Mrs. Sara Stevenson, Mrs. Elsie Cunningham and Mrs. Bertha Shoaff.

College Football Teams Are Set For Start Of New Year

Fordham Shapes Up As Team To Supplant Pitt As Number 1 Team Of Nation

Army Expects To Give Notre Dame Real Tussle This Season

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The nation's football warriors are all set to launch a smashing offensive along all fronts—an offensive that will see a record number of inter-sectional battles fought in all sectors, and one that surely will produce more than the usual quota of so-called upsets.

And nowhere will the fighting be harder than along the eastern seaboard, where some of our biggest units are prepared to turn back attacks from all other sections.

Fordham Looks Strong
To meet those attacks from the south, southwest, midwest and far west, the east has on hand a great array of powerhouse battalions.

Heading a score of top-notch eastern outfits are Fordham, Army, Carnegie Tech and Cornell, with several others almost on a par with these first line teams.

Fordham, Gen. Jim Crowley of Four Horsemen fame, is solidly entrenched with what he declared is the strongest aggregation that ever wore the maroon. And they will have to be all that to stand off a killing schedule that includes in order Alabama, Tulane, Pitt, Rice, Indiana, St. Mary's of California and N. Y. U.

Army Good Team
The experts expect Fordham to supplant Pitt this season as the No. 1 power outfit of the east and they may be correct for Fordham confidently expects at least one tackle and two backs to make the All-Americans and has several others almost equally as good.

Of course, it would be rather silly to start handing out encomiums before the season begins but those on the inside assure us Army really has something this year.

Army secretly is chuckling over a surprise package in store for Notre Dame this time and even today at West Point you can get 2 to 1 that the Army will lick the Navy. Carnegie Tech will be stronger than ever and you may recall that they were a whale of an outfit last season. Cornell is slated to be a top-hand among the so-called ivy leaguers with much-stronger Princeton and Penn teams almost on a par with them.

How Teams Shape Up
Running hastily through the pre-season dope on the other "name" teams we find something like this:

Columbia: Stronger defensively but not quite so good offensively.

Yale: Definitely weaker. Harvard good; about the same as last time.

Pitt: A question mark. The outstanding stars of last year's team and Coach Jock Sutherland are gone.

Syracuse: Coach Solem has a big powerful gang who may spring some surprises.

Colgate: Strictly a question mark but should be better.

Holy Cross: Not quite so formidable with Osmanski gone from the backfield. That bird was a whole team himself.

Manhattan: Much stronger, and no pushover for anybody.

N. Y. U.: Doubtful. Some good material that may come along slowly.

Boston College: At least as good as ever and maybe much better. Needs a real test to prove self.

Temple and Villanova: Two big question marks, but sure to have fairly good teams in any event.

Dartmouth: Good and colorful. Not rated as high as usual but undoubtedly will pull a few of those alleged upsets.

Brown: Much stronger and pointing for upsets.

Bessemer Wins Over All-Stars

Score Is 6 To 5 Before Large Crowd Sunday At Bessemer Field, Benefit Game

Bessemer baseball team ended its 1939 season on Sunday before a crowd of over 3,000 fans at Bessemer high field, by taking the measure of the City-Baseball league All-Stars 6 to 5 when C. Anderson's pinch-hitter for P. Nord in the 8th inning homered with two mates aboard.

The game was a benefit for Dick Nord, the veteran Bessemer pitcher who had an arm operation recently. The total received to help defray hospital expenses was announced as $63.50.

Paul Morrison started for the All-Stars and gave way to young Joe Wink in the sixth inning, the latter being charged with the defeat. The winning pitcher was Snyder who relieved Hardesty in the third inning.

Home runs outside of the one by Anderson were hit by Peck Houston and George Stanley, the latter of Bessemer. James Markey of the All-Star team had a triple and Mike Markey the twin brother had a double.

The following unpires donated their services and handled a swell game—Dom Castele back of the plate, Clem General at first, Johnny Uram at third base, Danny De-Genova of West Pittsburgh and George Zidow of the Lawrence Indies handled the All-Stars in the role of managers.

Pastor And Louis Fight Wednesday

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Sept. 18.—In perfect physical condition after a two-day siege with a head cold, world's heavyweight champion Joe Louis today was to engage in his last heavy workout before he defends his crown against Chunky Bob Pastor, New York challenger in a 20-round bout in Briggs Stadium, on Wednesday night.

State Boxing Commission Doctor W. B. Clark gave the negro champion a thorough medical going over at his Northville training camp yesterday and pronounced him in excellent shape. He said all traces of the rhinitis head cold, which forced the Brown Bomber to forego training sessions Friday and Saturday, had vanished, along with the spectre of postponement due to ill health.

Youngstown East Here On Friday

Ohio Team Will Bring Flaunted Forward Passing Attack To New Castle

PASS DEFENSE TO BE WEEK'S WORK

Having come out of the Butler 20 to 12 victory in good shape physically, the New Castle High "Red Hurricane" grid team began preparation today at Taggart Stadium for the game this coming Friday night that will bring fast Youngstown East High team here to play a nocturnal engagement.

Last year New Castle was lucky to beat Youngstown East 8 to 7 in a great battle and the way it shapes up this year the game will be just as good. East High under Coach Dick Barrett is noted for its great forward passing attack, having beaten New Castle in 1937 on just such a very thing in the dying moments of the game.

East Watches Locals
East High was idle last Friday night and Coach Barrett and his first stringers sat in the stands here and watched New Castle play the Butler team. They didn't see all of the local tricks, but they saw enough to convince them that they are in for a tough battle this coming Friday night and went back home in serious mood.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh and his assistants will work diligently this week to try and strengthen the pass defense of the team. Butler worked several nice passes on the locals last Friday night. Lindy Lauro who played a great game at fullback last week will be a marked man in the East-New Castle game.

The line performed very nicely last week, but still needs a little polishing up. Big John Kuhn is a power house at left tackle. Cenname played a fine game at left and will improve.

RANGERS WIN GAME
The North Hill Rangers won from the North Hill Greyhounds Saturday morning at a North Hill field 18 to 0. The playing of Fred Logan was the feature of the game, this lad making all three of the touchdowns in the game.

Local Briefs: As far as Archie Shoup is concerned, there isn't much difference between class B and collegiate football. Making his debut as a Youngstown college player, the stocky framed Bessemer powerhouse cashed in with a touchdown and an extra point. DeArment, who was Shoup's teammate at Bessemer, also saw action against Geneva. For the Covenanters, Howard Currie, East New Castle product, played in his first college clash.

Diamond Niblets: Bobby Feller has mastered the art of nabbing baserunners. His latest victim was the alert Joe DiMaggio. A year ago runners waltzed around the base paths like kooky dancers when the young feller was on the knoll. Now they glue themselves to the sacks. . . . Atley Donald is a soft touch for the Tigers. So far the Bengals have bombarded him off the knoll four consecutive times.

Reds Still Are Holding Lead In National League

Split With Boston Bees Sunday As Cardinals Do Likewise With Giants

PIRATES-PHILLIES SPLIT TWIN BILL

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Date of the opening game, Oct. 4, place Yankee stadium, New York, competing teams, the New York Yankees, defending champions and representatives of the American league, vs. the Cincinnati Reds of the National league.

Both the Reds and the hard-fighting second place St. Louis Cardinals split double-headers yesterday, with the result that the former remained 3½ games in front.

They got a mild case of the leaping meemies yesterday against the Boston Bees, but managed to go ahead to an even break and thus hold their margin over the Cards.

The Reds made six errors in the opener, winning by 6 to 5, then made three in the nightcap, losing by 5 to 3.

Meantime the Cards ran into Carl Hubbell's screwballing in their first game and dropped it 2 to 1. They came back to take the nightcap by the same score.

Pirates Split
Also in the meantime, the Brooklyn Dodgers were projecting themselves more prominently into the campaign by tripping the Chicago Cubs twice, 10 to 4 and 3 to 2.

In the other National League contests, the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7 to 3, in the opener, then lost the nightcap of a twin bill, 10 to 1.

With the American league pennant safely tucked away the Yankees suffered that might be regarded as their worst slump of the season—a double defeat against the St. Louis Browns, 8 to 4 and 3 to 1.

Boston split with the Chicago White Sox who took the first game of a twin bill, 6 to 1 and dropped the nightcap, 11 to 7.

The Detroit Tigers beat the Washington Senators, 3 to 2 in 11 innings and the Philadelphia Athletics split with the Cleveland Indians. The A's won the opener, 4 to 2, then dropped the finale, 18 to 5.

Gas Office And All-States Split

The Gas company softball team and the All-States split a twin bill at Lockley field on Sunday afternoon in their three-game championship series. The Gas Office won on the losing end 19 to 1 in the first game, but came back in the night-cap to take it 5 to 4. These are Utility league teams.

A third game will now be necessary to determine the championship.

The winning pitcher in the first game was Book, who allowed but eight hits. The losing hurler was Johnson. Cowies pitched the Gas Office gang to their victory in the second game, with Book trying for an iron-man stunt, but failed.

First Game
Score by innings: R. H. E. All-States . . . 300 333 403-19 9 3 Gas Office . . . 000 001 000-1 3 8 Batteries—Gas: Office, Johnson and R. Ferec; All-States, Book and Santee.

Second Game
R. H. E. Gas Office . . . 003 100 010-5 6 1 All-States . . . 000 000 301-4 6 2 Batteries—Gas Office, Cowies and R. Ferec; All-States, Santee, Book and Santee.

UXBRIDGE, Mass.—As far as Philip Dupont is concerned the ox is taking the place of the horse. Dupont uses a team of Durham oxen to haul his mowing machine. The oxen are driven with reins like horses, instead of with an ox whip. He reports they give the same speed at mowing as a team of horses.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEALL.

We have people in this town who are off on the wrong foot. People who have been thrown into our laps by some political or business deal and who think they can change the social whirl of things. If a man pays his taxes, pays his share of things in the city, donations, etc., then he is in the position to say his speech. But when he pays no taxes, makes few or no donations when asked, etc., then he should keep his trap shut and abide by the majority in social affairs. There are several in New Castle, no names need be mentioned... but we do wish and thousands of others wish they would learn to keep quiet.

Folks laugh and smile when they read about the local boys who are interested in cooking and the art of good eating. Let 'em laugh we say what harm is done. We are of the opinion that every boy and girl should be taught from the beginning the essentials of the kitchen. The girls we expect to follow through, the boys, it's up to them. While the wife is cooking up a delicious dinner it's great sport to take a wooden salad bowl and toss up a tempting salad. At first she might object to your clattering up the kitchen but soon (if you are a success) the objection will be overruled. And it's mighty fine to be able to cook a little snack if the wife happens to be out... it's better than eating out of a can... We know one married man who encourages his wife to step out on a Saturday afternoon so he can cook up a dinner to his own taste. What we need in this country is more home life... the home is what made the United States.

Aviation is getting a stronger toe hold in New Castle as the days roll by. Yesterday nine planes in a convoy left the local airport at nine-thirty and made a little trip. They stopped at Oil City and Meadville... flying time of about one hour and a half. No accidents and all landed with all passengers happy. If flying is done safely it's a great sport... and we wish to stay that all local flyers should obey the government regulation of flying at least 1,000 feet above a congested populated area. Here's to more and better flying.

If you are thinking about buying coal, used furniture, used cars or looking for a house to rent or buy, need domestic help and a thousand other things... read the classified ads. If your wants are not there, make them known through the same means.

New Galilee Man Attacked By Bull

Is Rescued From Death By Heroism Of Wife, Who Drove Animal Away
With Pitch Fork

William H. McCullough, aged 52, of R. F. D. No. 1, New Galilee, probably owes his life to the heroism of his wife who rescued him from death under the hooves of an angry bull Sunday morning, about 7 o'clock.

When Mr. McCullough set out to do the morning chores at his farm, he discovered that the bull, which was kept tied, had gotten loose. In company with his wife, he was trying to get the animal into the barn, when it turned on him. While Mrs. McCullough kept the animal at bay with a pitchfork, other members of the family succeeded in dragging Mr. McCullough away, and lifting him over the fence of the barnyard. Later, neighbors got the bull into the barn.

Examination at the Jameson Memorial hospital, where Mr. McCullough was taken, revealed injuries about the chest, arms and legs, the full extent of which have not been determined, but are not believed to be of a serious nature, as his condition today was reported as fairly good. Unless complications develop it is believed that he will soon recover from the effects of his injuries.

Flower Show Is Largely Attended

Men's Garden Club Show In Public Library Attracts
Close To 1,000

It is estimated that close to a thousand persons attended the flower show in the public library, Friday and Saturday, which was sponsored by the Men's Garden Club.

Attracting much attention was the display of the East Side Garden club which won second place, with a woven spider web and a big black spider, surrounded by a number of lovely flowers. Another display causing much comment was that of the Men's Garden club in third place, with a front of seedling fence and floral background. The flowers, roses, dahlias and numerous other blooms were outstanding.

First prize, a gold cup, was awarded ed to the Lawrence County Garden club for their display of high quality blooms and their artistic arrangement. East Brook Garden club members had also arranged an instructive display with varieties of indoor and outdoor plants. A number of other county garden clubs participated in the show with New Castle Junior Garden club winning fourth prize.

A tentative meeting of the Men's Garden club has been scheduled for the first Tuesday of October in the home of Norman Y. Patton, Harlanburg road near the fair grounds. On November 7, the club will have its annual "mum show" at the Henon greenhouses, Chewton. Dinner will be served in the greenhouses among the mums at this event.

This evening the Lawrence County Garden Forum will meet at 8 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. where they will hear A. O. Rasmussen of Penn State college speak on "Home Grounds and Garden Improvements."

State Convention, Kerr
Discloses

New Castle Kiwanians are out for the 1941 state convention of Kiwanis. President Jesse N. Kerr of the local club let it be known Sunday as the local club's delegation departed for the annual convention at York, Pa.

Kerr revealed that Reading will probably be awarded the 1940 sessions. Attending the York convention with Kerr will be Thomas L. Paden, lieutenant governor of Division Four of the Pennsylvania district, and club secretary and Mrs. L. C. Mantz. They will return here later in the week.

August Industrial Percentage Soared

While local industries and railroads stepped up operations to fill new demands indirectly resulting from Europe's war, general industrial activity throughout the Shenango Valley district during August was rated at 81 percent as compared to 58 percent for the corresponding month of a year ago, a local industrial-business review disclosed today.

The percentage is based on operations of 36 industries in Lawrence, Mercer, Beaver and Butler counties. During August New Castle's postal receipts were 24 percent higher than in the same month of 1938.

Business In Pittsburgh Area Expected To Make Economic Thermometer Sing

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 18.—Business in the Pittsburgh area this week was expected to make economic thermometers rise to 100 percent of the 1923-25 level as steel and coal producers today recalled thousands of men and set up full-time working schedules.

Steel production was expected to hit 75 percent of theoretical capacity. Purlough rosters in the industry were being shortened considerably as additional blast furnaces, strip mills and rolling mills swung into action.

Bituminous coal fields, particularly around Fayette county, saw men hustling to work today as full-time work schedules went into effect for the first time in years. The H. C. Frick company, which has been running just eight mines, ordered 14 mines to begin regular five-day operations. Lehigh Valley and Coke fired 200 ovens over the week-end, while Pittsburgh Steel company's Mine No. 2 is already on a six-day production week for the 254 ovens fired within the last few days.

That other companies had inquired of the United Mine Workers of America concerning the six-day week, was reported by Patrick Fagan, head of District No. 5. The six-day week will be approved by the union providing the mining companies hire additional men so that no one man works more than five days a week, or the present working schedules are staggered, he said.

Synod Will Meet In Mercer Church

The First Synod of the West, of which the local United Presbyterian churches are a part, will meet tonight at 7:30 in the Second U. P. church of Mercer, sessions to continue through Wednesday morning. Devotional addresses this year are to be given by Dr. Harry Rimmer of Duluth, Minn. Dr. Rimmer was at Westminster college about two years ago for a series of meetings and was very much appreciated by the young people.

United Presbyterian pastors and lay delegates will attend the meetings in Mercer.

Former Principal Of Local Schools Dies On Saturday

Edwin H. McCormick, Retired,
Passes Away In Hospital
At Grove City

Edwin H. McCormick, aged 65 years, principal of the Highland and Martin Gantz schools of New Castle some years ago, and of late retired, with a country home in Jackson township, Mercer county, died Saturday night in the Bashline-Rossman hospital, Grove City, following three weeks' illness.

Mr. McCormick was a graduate of Volant and Geneva colleges and received his A. B. degree from Geneva while a resident of New Castle. He was a highly respected educator, and it is remembered that he was an unusually fine instructor in arithmetic. While here he served as president of the Principals' Association. Friends recall, too, that he served as superintendent of schools at Parnassus, Pa.

Retiring from the teaching profession, Mr. McCormick was in the mercantile business in Warren, O., and then went to pass his remaining years in Mercer county where he was born. He leaves his wife, four daughters, Mrs. George W. Gage of Zionsville, Mrs. Milo S. Root of Kinsman, O., Mrs. John Kurjan of Youngstown, O., and Kathryn McCormick of Warren, O., and three brothers, Dr. A. B. McCormick of Oil City, former pastor of Central Presbyterian church of New Castle; William S. of Erie, and Charles S. of Redona Beach, Cal.

Funeral services will take place Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the home in Jackson township, Mercer county, with Rev. Willis B. Townsend of the Warren, O. Presbyterian church, in charge. Interment will be in Mercer cemetery.

INVENTS DEVICE FOR SUBMARINE RESCUE WORK

(International News Service)
PORTLAND, Ore.—Invention of a device that may revolutionize submarine rescue work was announced by Owen C. Ankeny, Linnton engineer, who has sent working plans of his invention to federal authorities at Washington.

The device is a water-tight case, no bigger than a derby hat, in which is enclosed a drill that may be operated by compressed air or by electricity. Plans call for the machine to be attached to the hull of a sunken submarine by suction.

The drill penetrates the hull of the submerged vessel and water is admitted to the case. The shaft separates and leaves an induction valve to which air lines may be attached. The welcome air may be pumped into the chamber holding imprisoned men.

DEMOCRATS SEEK 1940 CONVENTION

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA—Pennsylvania's delegates to the national convention of Young Democrats in Pittsburgh this summer backed a plan to bring the 1940 Democratic convocation to this metropolis.

Paul C. Lewis, president of the Young Democrats of Philadelphia county, said one point in favor of the move is that pleasant memories of the 1936 Democratic national convention held in Philadelphia still "linger in the delegates' minds."

"One of our main objectives," he added, "will be to crystallize sentiment in favor of Philadelphia as the scene of our party's 1940 convention." Some 10,000 Young Democrats attended the Pittsburgh convocation, which was held August 10, 11 and 12.

Federal Probe Into Building Industry In Pittsburgh Set

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 18.—A federal grand jury investigation of the building industry in the Pittsburgh district was ordered today by Federal Judge Nelson McVicar.

On the petition of acting United States Attorney George Mashank, who said he held approval from Washington, Judge McVicar signed a formal order re-convening the May grand jury on October 9 to conduct the probe.

The investigation, Mashank said, is intended to disclose whether or not the building industry in Pittsburgh has been guilty of illegal practices tending to make costs excessive and thus stagnating building and preventing employment.

Mashank said the first several days of the jury session would be taken up with criminal cases and after these had been disposed of, the building probe would be undertaken.
